CALL FOR PAPERS

Introduction:

Open Access (OA) comprises of publications including articles published in journals that are freely available to all readers. In Open Access environment, the publishers place no financial or copyright barriers between the readers and the publication. Hence, there are immense chances that the publications are read more compared to the publication which is not freely available to all. This often leads to high penetration in the scholarly world and the publications tend to gain more citations than Non-OA publications. In this landscape, to learn more about open science, open access, research productively and IEEE Xplore, Allama Iqbal Library is going to organize National Seminar on the above-mentioned date to sensitize the brains of young scholars towards the movement which is gaining importance day by day due to the advancements in the Information and Communication Technology.
